Report on online Student Development Program on “Advanced Learning Techniques in Analog and Digital Electronic Circuits” on 8th December 2020.

Organized by Department of Information Science and Engineering

The online Student Development Program on “Advanced Learning Techniques in Analog and Digital Electronic Circuits” was conducted on 8th December 2020, for Second year students of Information Science and Engineering.

The Program starts with welcome speech given by Prof. Reshma Raj, Assistant Prof, Dept. of ISE. She invite Speaker, Faculty members and Students those who are participating in program.

The session was presented by Prof. Raghunandan G H Assistant Professor , Department of Electronics & Telecommunication Engineering, BMS Institute of Technology & Management, Bengaluru. The topics are Modern definition of Engineering by ABET, Definition of Analog Electronics and Digital Electronics and its Application, Difference between Digital versus Analog System, Digital representation of Analog quantities, Simulation of Switching circuits, why Analog and digital electronics subject for Information science engineering students, Different job opportunities , Product based companies in IT Industry, Innovative ideas, KSCST funding Projects, MSME funding, Innovative competition by IIT and NIT, Opportunities from industry level, Differentiate between Start up and Big Companies, How to build carrier, case study, Revenue Innovation.
